Fund Management Commentary

Despite the generally weak performance of the stock markets over the past four weeks, the LOYS Global has outperformed the MSCI benchmark since the start of the year. The financial markets were dominated by the conflict between Israel and the U.S. and Iran. The sharp rise in oil prices, in particular, was the focus of attention. Overall, all asset classes posted losses. The setbacks in the bond sector were particularly striking, with the yield on 10-year German government bonds rising well above the 3% mark. Gold and silver performed surprisingly weakly after the bull market in this sector came to an end. The stock markets saw a significant correction, and software stocks were once again the hardest hit. Economists revised their growth forecasts for the global economy downward. The fund management recently increased its holdings in Tecnicas Reunidas. Petrobras, meanwhile, was sold off after posting strong gains.

Important Information:

The gross value development (BVI method) takes into account all costs incurred at fund level (for example, the management fee) with the exception of any front-end load that may be incurred (this is otherwise marked separately). Additional costs may be incurred individually at customer level (e.g. custody account fees, commissions and other fees). Model calculation (net): One investor would like to purchase units for EUR 1000. With a maximum initial sales charge of 5%, he or she must spend a one-off of EUR 50. Additionally, custody account costs may be incurred which affect the performance of the portfolio reduce the deposit costs. The custody account costs result from the price and service list of your Bank. Historical performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance. Especially performance results referring to a period of less than twelve months (Year-to-date-performance, start of investment fund within the last twelve months) does not reliably indicate future results due to the short period of comparison. Hence, the future performance of the investment cannot be guaranteed.
