Fund Management Commentary

LOYS Global achieved further net value gains in May. The performance for the month was around 2.5%. Overall, the stock market climate showed its fickle side in the last four weeks. This was largely due to unexpectedly high inflation figures. Central banks merely made appealing comments on this, but the probability of an interest rate turnaround has increased significantly. Complaints about rising prices for intermediate products, freight rates and raw materials came from the corporate sector as well. At the same time, the general view of rapidly gathering momentum in the economy solidified after mass vaccinations in many countries showed clear success. The fund management of LOYS Global recently made only a few minor round-ups in the portfolio and starts June with a 95% investment ratio.

Important Information:

¹The gross value development (BVI method) takes into account all costs incurred at fund level (for example, the management fee) with the exception of any front-end load that may be incurred (this is otherwise marked separately). Additional costs may be incurred individually at customer level (e.g. custody account fees, commissions and other fees). Model calculation (net): One investor would like to purchase units for EUR 1000. With a maximum initial sales charge of 5%, he or she must spend a one-off of EUR 50. Additionally, custody account costs may be incurred which affect the performance of the portfolio reduce the deposit costs. The custody account costs result from the price and service list of your Bank.
